50X1-HUM

1. The Bulgarian anti-Communist partisans have recently increased their activities against the regime, particularly in the Balkan mountains. During June, the resistance groups clashed several times with the security organs and Army units in Stara Planina and in the Rhodopes area, it is said.
2. "The partisans have also received reinforcements: An army general from Shumen, it is said, with about 45 officers, 80 NCO's and other ranks joined the partisan groups in the Preslov area of the Balkan mountains. It is alleged that about 17,000 partisans now operate under the command of this general. His name, however, has not been given.
3. "It is also reported that the general tension throughout the country is steadily increasing as a result of intensified agricultural controls and large-scale military preparations. As a result, the population seems to expect an outbreak of war at the end of this summer. This general feeling seems to cause the partisans to increase their activities.
